Independent Auditor's Report

To the Board of Directors
Fairfax Library Foundation

Opinion

We have audited the accompanying financial statements of Fairfax Library Foundation (a nonprofit organization), which comprise the statements of financial position as of June 30, 2023 and 2022, and the related statements of activities, functional expenses, and cash flows for the years then ended, and the related notes to the financial statements.

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of Fairfax Library Foundation as of June 30, 2023 and 2022, and the changes in its net assets and its cash flows for the years then ended in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Basis for Opinion

We conducted our audits in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements section of our report. We are required to be independent of Fairfax Library Foundation and to meet our other ethical responsibilities in accordance with the relevant ethical requirements relating to our audits. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion.

Responsibilities of Management for the Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America, and for the design, implementation, and maintenance of internal control relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the financial statements, management is required to evaluate whether there are conditions or events, considered in the aggregate, that raise substantial doubt about Fairfax Library Foundation's ability to continue as a going concern within one year after the date that the financial statements are available to be issued.

Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance but is not absolute assurance and therefore is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control. Misstatements are considered material if there is a substantial likelihood that, individually or in the aggregate, they would influence the judgment made by a reasonable user based on the financial statements.

In performing an audit in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards, we:

- Exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit.
- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, and design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks. Such procedures include examining, on a test basis, evidence regarding the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements.
- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of Fairfax Library Foundation's internal control. Accordingly, no such opinion is expressed.
- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of significant accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluate the overall presentation of the financial statements.
- Conclude whether, in our judgment, there are conditions or events, considered in the aggregate, that raise substantial doubt about Fairfax Library Foundation's ability to continue as a going concern for a reasonable period of time.

We are required to communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit, significant audit findings, and certain internal control related matters that we identified during the audit.

Fairfax Library Foundation

Notes to Financial Statements June 30, 2023 and 2022

1. Organization

Fairfax Library Foundation (the Foundation), a nonprofit organization, was established in 1994 to provide supplementary support to the Fairfax County Public Library. The Foundation, while reinforcing the need for continued and increased public support for the library, serves as a catalyst for attracting private funding from individuals, businesses, organizations and civic groups to enhance library services for our community. The Foundation is supported primarily through donor and in-kind contributions. The Foundation uses contributions to support the library in areas of focus. The Foundation uses contributions to fund the purchase of books and materials for the 23 library branches. Expanding the collection of resources allows the library to maintain the most up-to-date materials, as well as to provide new digital, print, and other non-print materials to keep up with demand.

The Foundation funds the Ready to Read Early Literacy Outreach, a program which brings the first essential skills of reading to preschool-aged children. Preschoolers in childcare centers or Head Start classrooms are introduced to the joys of reading by a literacy outreach representative who visits the children for story time. Following the reading session, picture books are given both to the children and their caregivers to extend the benefits of early literacy by incorporating books into everyday life. The program reaches children who are unable or who are not taken by their caregivers to the library. Presentations for the library are supported by the Foundation, including the Fall For The Book literary festival and the FCPL Summer Reading Program, among others. The importance of reading, literacy and the library are brought to the attention of the community through the Foundation. The Foundation also supports Changing Lives Through Literature, a program which is an alternative to formal court action for first-time juvenile offenders and is used in conjunction with probation and parole. The program uses the power of literature to transform lives by helping participants learn about themselves, gaining insight about their own lives and behavior. Through reading and group discussions, the program rehabilitates offenders by building self-esteem, encouraging critical thinking, facilitating an understanding of how one's actions impact others, and teaching offenders that they are not alone with their troubles.

The Foundation is also proud to fund academic scholarships (undergraduate and graduate) and continuing education scholarships. These scholarships are open to employees and volunteers of Fairfax County Public Library. Continuing Education scholarships are awarded semi-annually and provide opportunities for current library employees or volunteers that are not enrolled in a formal degree program to continue their education (through classes, conferences, and other professional enhancement courses) to foster the professional development of the Fairfax County Public Library system team. Masters of Library Sciences scholarships are merit-based and available to individuals pursuing a master's degree in library science at an American Library Association (ALA) accredited school. Eligible applicants must be enrolled or have been accepted for enrollment by an ALA-accredited school. Undergraduate academic scholarships are merit-based awards available to any current employee or volunteer with Fairfax County Public Library. In order to be eligible, an awardee may be asked to complete up to a maximum of 60 volunteer hours within a 12-month period. Fairfax Library Foundation is pleased to enrich the Fairfax County Public Library.

2. Significant accounting policies

Basis of accounting

The Foundation prepares its financial statements on the accrual basis of accounting. In accordance with this method of accounting, revenue is recognized in the period in which it is earned and expenses are recognized in the period in which they are incurred.

Support and revenue recognition

Net assets, revenues, gains, and losses are classified based on the existence or absence of donor or grantor imposed restrictions. Accordingly, net assets and changes therein are classified and reported in two categories as described below.

See independent auditor's report.

Fairfax Library Foundation

Notes to Financial Statements June 30, 2023 and 2022

Net assets without donor restrictions are net assets available for use in general operations and not subject to donor restrictions. The governing board has designated, from net assets without donor restrictions, net assets for endowment funds.

Net assets with donor restrictions are net assets subject to donor-imposed restrictions. Some donor-imposed restrictions are temporary in nature, such as those that will be met by the passage of time or other events specified by the donor. Other donor-imposed restrictions are perpetual in nature, where the donor stipulates that resources be maintained in perpetuity. Donor-imposed restrictions are released when a restriction expires, that is, when the stipulated time has elapsed, when the stipulated purpose for which the resource was restricted has been fulfilled, or both.

Sources of revenue from contracts with customers include revenue from merchandise sales, such as books, bags, earbuds, and flash drives, which is recognized at the point in time when the goods are provided. These amounts are reported as sales revenue on the statements of activities. The Foundation holds no material inventory. All remaining sources of support and revenue are contribution transactions.

Cash and cash equivalents

Short-term, highly liquid investments with an original maturity of three months or less, including money market funds, are considered to be cash equivalents. Cash and cash equivalents held in investment accounts are excluded from cash and cash equivalents.

At year-end and throughout the year, the Foundation's cash balances were deposited in several banks which may exceed federally insured limits. FDIC insurance on interest bearing accounts is $250,000 per depositor, per insured bank. The Foundation has not experienced any losses on its cash equivalents and management does not believe this results in any significant credit risk.

Pledges receivable

Pledges receivable are reported at full value as all amounts are deemed fully collectible. Pledges receivable as of June 30, 2023 and 2022 are expected to be collected within one year. Accordingly, no allowance for doubtful accounts is required.

Property and equipment

It is the Foundation's policy to capitalize property and equipment over $500. Property and equipment are carried at cost or estimated fair market value, if donated. Equipment is depreciated using the straight-line method over estimated lives of three to five years. Depreciation expense for both years ended June 30, 2023 and 2022 was $508 and $488, respectively.

Investments

Investments are carried at their fair values based on publicly available market data obtained from services independent of the Foundation. Investment income or loss (including gains and losses on investments, interest, and dividends) is included in the statements of activities as increases or decreases in net assets without donor restrictions unless the income or loss is restricted by donor or law.

Friends' Group investments

Friends' Group investments represent funds held by the Foundation for the benefit of the Friends' Group libraries. At all times the Friends' Group is the sole and exclusive owner and has control over the funds. The Foundation serves as the administrator of the investment funds. These funds are shown as an asset and liability on the statements of financial position and are not included as cash and cash equivalents for the purpose of the statements of cash flows. Investment income is not included in the statements of activities.

See independent auditor's report.

Fairfax Library Foundation

Notes to Financial Statements June 30, 2023 and 2022

Other financial assets and liabilities

Financial assets with carrying values approximating fair value include cash and cash equivalents, pledges receivable, and prepaid expenses and other assets. Financial liabilities with carrying values approximating fair value include accounts payable and accrued expenses, and refundable advances. The carrying value of these financial assets and liabilities approximates fair value due to their short maturities and any associated interest rates approximate current market rates.

Refundable advances

Refundable advances as of June 30, 2023 and 2022 consisted of conditional contributions for scholarships over the next three years, and contributions for special events not yet held.

Donated services and facilities

The Foundation receives various types of in-kind support, including donated salaries, donated office space, and materials. Donated services are recognized as contributions if the services (a) create or enhance nonfinancial assets or (b) require specialized skills, are performed by people with those skills, and would otherwise be purchased by the Foundation. Donated salaries which have been recorded at the value paid by Fairfax County. The Foundation also receives rent-free use of office space. For the years ended June 30, 2023 and 2022, Fairfax County provided details regarding the value donated office space along with a basis for measurement. The Foundation also receives donated materials which consists largely of books. Donated materials are recorded at the fair value of the property on date of donation. Other in-kind contributions received are reflected at estimated fair value. See Note 11 for additional information.

Concentrations of credit and market risk

Financial instruments that potentially expose the Foundation to concentrations of credit and market risk consist primarily of cash equivalents and investments.

In general, investments are exposed to various risks, such as interest rate, credit, and overall market volatility risk. Due to the level of risk associated with certain investments, it is reasonably possible that changes in the values of investments will occur in the near term and that such changes could materially affect amounts reported in future statements of activities. Management believes that the Foundation's investments do not represent significant concentrations of market risk as the Foundation's investment portfolio is adequately diversified among issuers.

Functional allocation of expenses

The costs of providing the various programs and other activities have been summarized on a functional basis in the statements of activities. Accordingly, certain costs have been allocated among the programs and supporting services benefited. Salaries and benefits, graphics and printing, fees and other charges, office supplies, computer maintenance and supplies, depreciation, postage, insurance, licenses and permits, contracted staff, other, in-kind salaries and benefits, and in-kind office space have been allocated across functional areas based on an estimate of time spent by personnel.

Use of estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Fairfax Library Foundation

Notes to Financial Statements June 30, 2023 and 2022

Income taxes

The Fairfax Library Foundation is exempt from federal income tax as a nonprofit organization described in Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code and is classified as an organization other than a private foundation. Income from certain activities not directly related to the Foundation's tax-exempt purpose is subject to taxation as unrelated business income. The Foundation had an insignificant amount of unrelated business income for the years ended June 30, 2023 and 2022; therefore, no provision has been made in these financial statements.

The Foundation is subject to taxation in the U.S. and a small number of state and local jurisdictions. The material jurisdictions subject to potential examination by taxing authorities include the U.S. and Virginia. Management does not believe that the ultimate outcome of any future examinations of open tax years will have a material impact on the Foundation's results of operations. Tax years that remain subject to examination by the IRS are the fiscal years ended June 30, 2020 through June 30, 2023.

Upcoming accounting pronouncements

The Financial Accounting Standards Board (FASB) issued Accounting Standards Update (ASU) 2016-13 which adopts the current expected credit loss (CECL) model. The CECL model requires a financial asset or a group of financial assets (including trade receivables, contract assets, lease receivables, financial guarantees, loans and loan commitments, and held-to-maturity debt securities) measured at amortized cost basis to be presented at the net amount expected to be collected. The statement of activities will reflect the measurement of credit losses for newly recognized financial assets, as well as the increases or decreases of expected credit losses that have taken place during the period. ASU 2016-13 is effective for annual reporting periods beginning after December 15, 2022 and the Foundation adopted this standard on its effective date, July 1, 2023. Management is assessing the impact that the standard will have on the financial statements.

6. Net assets with donor restrictions

During 1996, the Foundation received a bequest from a trust (Macleod fund). Additional donations received are added to the net assets with donor restrictions balance. This contribution was donor-restricted for the purchase of recorded books. The Board has designated that the Macleod fund be held in an endowment fund and distributed in accordance with the spending policy described in Note 7. At June 30, 2023 and 2022, the donor-restricted amount was $118,020 and $159,054, respectively.

The General Endowment was established to enhance the services and resources of the Fairfax County Public Library in the 21st century. Donations may be given as a general contribution to the endowment or may be directed to one of four areas within the permanent endowment: books, the virtual library, community programs or scholarships.

The Children's Reading Program fund was established as a permanent endowment by The George Mason Friends, Inc., for the intended purpose of supporting the Children's Reading Program of the Fairfax Country Public Library. The Friends contributed $500,000, and, once approved by the Friends, $25,000 of earnings on the endowment will be expended annually for the Children's Reading Program.

Fairfax Library Foundation

Notes to Financial Statements June 30, 2023 and 2022

7. Endowment funds

The Foundation's endowment funds consist of four individual funds established for a variety of purposes. The endowment funds include both donor-restricted funds and funds designated by the Board of Directors to function as endowments. As required by U.S. GAAP, net assets associated with endowment funds, including funds designated by the Board of Directors to function as endowments are classified and reported based on the existence or absence of donor-imposed restrictions.

Interpretation of Relevant Law

The Board of Directors of the Foundation has interpreted the Virginia Uniform Prudent Management of Institutional Funds Act (UPMIFA) as requiring the preservation of the fair value of the original gifts as of the gift date of the donor-restricted endowment funds absent explicit donor stipulations to the contrary. As a result of this interpretation, the Foundation classifies as net assets with donor restrictions perpetual in nature (a) the original value of gifts donated to the permanent endowment, (b) the original value of subsequent gifts to the permanent endowment, and (c) accumulations to the permanent endowment made in accordance with the direction of the applicable donor gift instrument at the time the accumulation is added to the fund.

The remaining portion of the donor-restricted endowment fund that is not classified in net assets with donor restrictions perpetual in nature is classified as net assets with donor restrictions subject to expenditure for a specific purpose until those amounts are appropriated for expenditure by the organization in a manner consistent with the standard of prudence prescribed by UPMIFA. In accordance with UPMIFA, the Foundation considers the following factors in making a determination to appropriate or accumulate donor-restricted endowment funds:

1. The duration and preservation of the fund
2. The purposes of the Foundation and the donor-restricted endowment fund
3. General economic conditions
4. The possible effects of inflation and deflation
5. The expected total return from income and the appreciation of investments
6. Other resources of the Foundation
7. The investment policies of the Foundation

Return Objectives and Risk Parameters

The Foundation has adopted investment and spending policies for endowment assets that attempt to provide a predictable stream of funding to programs supported by its endowment funds while seeking to maintain the purchasing power of the endowment assets. Endowment assets include those assets of donor-restricted funds that the Foundation must hold in perpetuity as well as board-designated funds. Under the policy, as approved by the Board of Directors, the endowment assets are invested in a manner that is intended to produce results that exceed the price and yield results of the S&P 500 index while assuming a moderate level of investment risk. The Foundation expects its endowment funds, over time, to provide an average rate of return of approximately six percent annually. Actual returns in any given year may vary from this amount.

Strategies employed for achieving objectives

To satisfy its long-term rate-of-return objectives, the Foundation relies on a total return strategy in which investment returns are achieved through both capital appreciation (realized and unrealized) and current yield (interest and dividends). The Foundation targets a diversified asset allocation that places a greater emphasis on equity-based investments and to achieve its long-term return objectives within prudent risk constraints.

See independent auditor's report.

Fairfax Library Foundation

Notes to Financial Statements June 30, 2023 and 2022

Spending policy and how the investment objectives relate to spending policy

The amounts appropriated for distribution by the Foundation vary for each fund. For the General Endowment and FCPL Branches, the Foundation has a policy of appropriating for distribution each year four percent of the endowment funds' average fair value over the previous five calendar years. For the Macleod endowment, the Foundation has a policy of appropriating for distribution each year four percent of the endowment fund's average fair value over the previous five calendar years. A distribution of three percent of four percent of the average value of the Children's Reading Program fund over the previous five calendar years will be made each year to cover administrative expenses. In establishing these policies, the Foundation considered the long-term expected return on its endowment. Accordingly, over the long term, the Foundation expects the current spending policy to allow its endowment to grow at an average of two percent annually. This is consistent with the Foundation's objective to maintain the purchasing power of the endowment assets held in perpetuity as well as to provide additional real growth through new gifts and investment return.

Funds with deficiencies

From time to time, the fair value of assets associated with individual donor-restricted endowment funds may fall below the level that the donor or UPMIFA requires the Foundation to retain as a fund of perpetual duration. There were no such deficiencies as of June 30, 2023 and 2022.

Endowment net asset composition by type of fund

Notes to Financial Statements June 30, 2023 and 2022

The following table reflects the Foundation's financial assets as of June 30, reduced by amounts that are not available to meet general expenditures within one year of the statement of financial position date because of donor or contractual restrictions:

	2023	2022
Cash and cash equivalents	$ 827,892	$ 837,246

Total financial assets available to meet general expenditures within one year	$ 924,713	$ 931,987

The Foundation's board-designated endowment is subject to an annual spending rate as described in Note 7. Although the Foundation does not intend to spend from this board-designated endowment (other than amounts appropriated for general expenditure as part of our Board's annual budget approval and appropriation), these amounts could be made available if necessary.

9. Fair value measurements

The Foundation classifies its investments into Level 1, which refers to securities valued using quoted prices from active markets for identical assets; Level 2, which refers to securities not traded on an active market but for which observable market inputs are readily available; and Level 3, which refers to securities valued based on significant unobservable inputs. Assets and liabilities are classified in their entirety based on the lowest level of input that is significant to the fair value measurement.

The Foundation's holdings in publicly traded mutual funds consist principally of fixed income and equity securities carried at their aggregate market value that is determined by quoted market prices. Each of these investments can be liquidated daily. Valuation is based on Level 1 inputs within the hierarchy used in measuring fair value.

See independent auditor's report.
